DETAILED ACTION

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

The application has been amended as follows:

In specification page 25, the portion in line 6 ", and is further defined at <http://www.srgb.com>" has been deleted, because of the URL address.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 8-44, and 77-90 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance of claims 77-90:

The prior art does not teach or would not have rendered obvious:

A) A method of providing color corrected images on a client computer, such as claimed in claims 77-83, the method: calibrates the client computer by sending a plurality of test images to the client computer, prompting a user at the client computer to indicate color differences between the test images, and calculating a correction to be applied to images based on the user responses to the test images; receives images from thirds parties (remote servers); and applies the correction to the images, to provide color corrected images.

Art Unit: 2614

B) An apparatus for remote color display characterization (calibration), such as claimed in claims 84-90, the apparatus comprises: a color calibration mechanism including the display of a client computer to display a plurality of test images to a user; a user interface to receive choice data from the user, the choice data indicating responses of the user to the plurality of test images; and a characterization program (running on a remote server) to take the choice data and create a characterization file, characterizing the display.

The closest prior art, Holub (US 6,157,735) and Sachs (US 5,483,259) disclose conventional system for color display characterization and/or calibration, either singularly or in combination, fail to anticipate or render obvious the present invention as claimed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
